Hello Phil –

I'm not sure if you were ever aware that Barbara is the original and continual author/creator of the patent and is a retired database developer with significant technological experience and "skill in the art" and Tony (her husband) is a retired Pharmacist. I just help pay the attorney bills associated with the Patent.

We have decided to move forward with other plans and no longer need to employ your services.

Cindy

Re:
Patent Application SN10086253;
SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR FILLING MEDICAL PRESCRIPTIONS
Our file rinc0001

Cindy and Barbara:

I enclose a decision of the Patent Office Board of Appeals in the above matter.

Unfortunately, the Board of Appeals affirms the decision of the examiner to reject claims 212 to 40 (all claims) of our Application SN10086253.

7/27/2011

We argued in this appeal that the references do not teach or suggest a system that admits of a pharmacist discretion, i.e. that the references do not teach or suggest (1) a pharmacist “entering [a] filled and different medication brand or dosage into [a] processing center in fulfillment of [a] prescribed prescription” (new method recitation) or (2) a processing center that “accepts filled prescription information through the network from the pharmacist in fulfillment of the prescribed information but that differs in at least one respect from medication brand or dosage of the prescribed prescription information” (the new system recitation).

The Board of Appeals Decision disagrees with our arguments, finding that Borsand teaches:

9. The pharmacist can modify the prescription after reviewing the prescription as it relates to pharmaceutical interactions, allergies, or other patient attributes that could affect the desirability of filling a particular prescription. (§ [0087].)

10. The pharmacist enters an electronic representation of a filled prescription into the system once the pharmacist has evaluated the prescription in the context of any attributes or characteristics that could impact the desirability of a particular pharmaceutical. (§§ [0084], [0085] and [0086].)

11. Prescription information includes strength, quantity and the directions for taking the pharmaceutical. (§ [0064].)

These findings are the key to the Board’s decision.

Throughout the prosecution of this case, we have argued that the examiner had not identified any teaching in the references of our claimed “a pharmacist” “entering [a] filled and different medication brand or dosage into [a] processing center in fulfillment of [a] prescribed prescription...” (pharmacist discretion method) or of a processing center that “accepts filled prescription information through the network from the pharmacist in fulfillment of the prescribed information but that differs in at least one respect from medication brand or dosage of the prescribed prescription information” (pharmacist discretion system).

The examiner has never relied upon or discussed Borsand (§§ [0084], [0085], and [0087]). The Board now refers to these paragraphs and [0086] to make the obvious case to our pharmacist discretion method and to our pharmacist discretion system.

As one skilled in the art, Cindy please review Borsand (§§ [0084], [0085], [0086] and [0087]) and provide me with your comments on whether Borsand (§§ [0084], [0085], [0086] and [0087]) teaches or suggests the claim language of our claim 21 pharmacist discretion method and claim 31 of our pharmacist discretion system. If you disagree with the Board’s interpretation of Borsand (§§ [0084], [0085], [0086] and [0087]) paragraphs, explain why you disagree.

At this time, we can file a Request for Reconsideration with the Board. However, whether or not we file a Request, we must appeal to the Fed. Circuit Court of Appeals or file an RCE with new claims no later than AUGUST 8, 2011 or abandon this application.

I will provide you with my recommendation when I have your comments.

7/27/2011

Hence, please give me your comments as I request above as soon as possible. In the meantime, if you have any questions or comments, please contact me.

Yours truly,

Phil

Re:
Patent Application SN10086253;
SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR FILLING MEDICAL PRESCRIPTIONS
Our file rinc0001

Dear Ms. Rincavage:

This email letter confirms termination of our representation. We will render no further legal services to you in this matter. The October 18, 2009 REPRESENTATION LETTER (copy attached) is terminated and our office has no further attorney-client relationship with you.

The Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences rendered a June 8, 2011 decision in your SN10086253 application that affirmed the decision of the examiner to reject claims 21 to 40 (all claims) of your Application. We advised you that we can file a Request for Reconsideration with the Board. However, whether or not we file a Request, we must appeal to the Fed. Circuit Court of Appeals or file an RCE with new claims no later than AUGUST 8, 2011 or abandon this application. You will lose any exclusive rights to make, use or sell this invention if you abandon the case by not filing a response by August 8.

Your July 18, 2011 email states: "We have decided to move forward with other plans and no longer need to employ your services." We understand this statement as a direction to take no further steps in this matter and a termination of our services.

We enclose a copy of our current Invoice.

Our representation of you and any obligation to assist you in these matters are now concluded. We wish you the best of luck in the future.

If you have any questions about this, please contact us.

Yours truly,
